Treasury of the United States,

Washington, March 17, 1885.

Sir:

I beg to inform you that one of the bags received from your office this day, on account of transfer order No. 12534, purporting to contain $1000- was found to be short $1.00. The counter in this office marked the bag for identification, and with that exception it contains no marks, and I have therefore retained it subject to your instructions as to its return.

Very respectfully

Treasurer U.S.
